

LAUNCH PLAN • PAKISTAN • ORGANIC SOCIAL

No more almost.

A launch built on the one thing no mobile shop can do: cut a film for your exact phone in under 60 seconds. Built for real life — rickshaw drops, nosy neighbours, noon sun, paratha fingers.

MARKET	COPY	BUDGET	TIMING	CHANNELS
Pakistan, first kiosk	English, local flavour	Organic social only	Relative weeks · L = opening day	TikTok first, then Instagram

THE DIRECTION

One enemy: "almost"

"BILKUL FIT HAI, BHAI."

("Fits perfectly, bro.") — the nearest shopkeeper, every single time. By Tuesday the edge lifts, the camera hole's off and a bubble moves in rent-free. Everyone has lived this.

No more almost.

Our line — "Don't worry, we got you" — stays. It's how we talk back: end cards, comment replies, DMs.

CLEAR

~~Almost invisible.~~

For people who want their phone to look like their phone.

PRIVACY

~~Almost private.~~

For the bus, the office and the khala on the next seat.

MATTE

~~Almost glare-free.~~

For noon sun and paratha fingers.

TUFF

~~Almost survived.~~

For every butterfingers in the family.

WHY IT WORKS

Why this plan hits different

The machine is the proof

“Exact” needs no arguing when the film is cut for your model, in front of you, in under a minute. That’s the whole pitch.

Content gets easy

Every post has one job: show the almost, then show the exact. Works for all four finishes — and the crossed-out “almost” works anywhere.

WHY TIKTOK COMES FIRST

79.9M

adults in TikTok’s ad audience in Pakistan, late 2025.

22.4M

on Instagram — still the shopfront people check before they visit.

Source: DataReportal.

Six rules every post lives by

01 Start with the struggle

Nobody's waiting for a protector brand. Everybody's owned one that almost fit. Three weeks of problem before product.

02 Receipts, or it didn't happen

A reveal that proves nothing gets scrolled past. Every finish post runs its own test; every series brings evidence.

03 The machine is the main character

An exact cut in under 60 seconds is the most watchable thing in the category. On camera, with a real stopwatch.

04 No cap on the claims

Impact talk is TUFF's alone. Never "unbreakable" or "scratch-proof": 3H-5H is scratch-resistant. Every test is real.

05 Never the same trick twice

Four lookalike reveals lose people by the third. Every post gets its own reason to watch; no two in a row share a format.

06 Every post points to the kiosk

Location, hours, opening day, or "will it fit mine?". Views that don't walk to the kiosk don't sell anything.

Two things that can sink this launch

HIGH RISK

The logo stars

Both “a”s in the logotype carry six-point stars. Many people in Pakistan will read that as a Star of David, and shoppers have boycotted brands that read as pro-Israel since late 2023. Swap them for a four- or five-point sparkle on every file and on the kiosk sign before anything goes live — B1 puts the sign in close-up.

NOW

SPARKLE MOCK-UP

This deck already uses the sparkle mock-up. Final artwork is the designer’s call.

HIGH RISK

Claims the films can’t back

Stick to the spec sheet. Impact language belongs to TUFF alone, and every test that gets posted is a test that was really run, at the height shown on screen.

Say this	Never this
scratch-resistant (3H–5H)	scratch-proof
helps protect against drops — TUFF only	unbreakable
99%+ light transmittance (CLEAR)	shatterproof glass

...and four more to keep an eye on

MEDIUM RISK

No date, no tease

A teaser without a date loses steam fast. Phase 1 starts only once the opening date and mall are locked, and no more than three weeks out.

MEDIUM RISK

“Is it glass?”

Pakistan buys tempered glass by default; these films are TPU and EPU. Answer it once with a post (D2) and a reply-bank line — not two hundred separate replies.

LOW RISK

No Google Translate lookalike

“Shap” returns nothing, people will check, and borrowing Google’s interface borrows someone else’s brand. If the name ever needs explaining, use our own card — never Google’s look.

LOW RISK

Tidy the spec text

The source deck has “%99+” and reversed ranges like “0.20–0.15 mm”. Social copy reads “99%+” and “0.15–0.20 mm”. Benefit first, tech names second.

Five phases, counted back from opening day

L = the day the kiosk opens; W-3 = three weeks before it. Fifteen posts up to the end of launch week, then four weekly series and one pinned answer.

EVERY POST, IN ORDER

Fifteen posts, then four weekly series

PHASE 1 · THE STRUGGLE IS REAL · W-3 → W-2
A1	Spot your almost	W-3 Mon
A2	Every phone falls	W-3 Fri
A3	Worst screen protector in Pakistan	W-2 Mon
A5	Name a phone we can't cut	W-2 Thu
PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1
B1	Something's going up at [mall]	W-1 Mon
B2	Meet the squad	W-1 Tue
B3	CLEAR · Spot the film	W-1 Wed
B4	PRIVACY · Side-eye proof	W-1 Thu
B5	MATTE · Sun, glare, paratha fingers	W-1 Fri
B6	TUFF · Built for butterfingers	W-1 Sat

PHASE 3 · PULL UP WEEK · L → L+6
C1	Opening day, in the founder's voice	L
C4	From worst to cut	L+1
C2	W·R·A·P·S·H·A·P: how it works	L+2
C3	Almost vs exact	L+3 · weekly
C5	Stump the machine	L+5 · weekly
PHASE 4 · KEEP IT LOUD · L+1 → L+4 WEEKS
D1	Rate the fit	Weekly from L+1
D2	"Is it glass?"	L+1 week, then pinned
D3	The sneaky neighbour	Weekly from L+1

PHASE 1 · W-3 → W-2

The Struggle Is Real

LIFTED EDGES. BUBBLES. DROPS. "BILKUL FIT HAI."

Make "almost" everyone's problem, grow the following and collect phone models — all before the product shows its face.

A1	Spot your almost	W-3 Mon
A2	Every phone falls	W-3 Fri
A3	Worst screen protector in Pakistan	W-2 Mon
A5	Name a phone we can't cut	W-2 Thu

PHASE 1 · THE STRUGGLE IS REAL · W-3 · MON

Spot your almost

REAL LIFE

EIGHT PHONES, EIGHT TINY DAILY HEARTBREAKS — AND ONE OF THEM IS DEFINITELY YOURS.

THE POST

Nine phones flat-lay, shot straight overhead. Eight carry an “almost” everyone knows on sight: lifted edge, camera hole off, bubble dead centre, trapped dust, yellowed film, crooked cut, cracked glass guard, spiderweb screen. Phone nine is spotless. In the reel, hands drop them in one by one; the ninth lands softly.

CAPTION HOOK

“Which one is your phone right now? Drop the number.”

House rule: Use real, worn-out films from friends and family. Nothing faked, nothing broken on purpose.

Photo 4:5

Reel 9:16 · 8s

TikTok + Instagram

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» 8 GOT “ALMOST”.

» 1 GOT CUT FOR IT.

» NO MORE ALMOST. COMING SOON.

THE LOOK

Knolling flat-lay: straight overhead, hard even light, yellow seamless, every phone squared to the grid, a marker circle on every flaw.

PHASE 1 · THE STRUGGLE IS REAL · W-3 · FRI

Every phone falls

REAL LIFE

RICKSHAW STEP. SHAADI DANCE FLOOR. LAST-BALL SIX. YOUR PHONE HAD A NEAR-DEATH EXPERIENCE THIS MONTH.

THE POST

Six real Pakistani drop moments cut on the beat: a rickshaw step, a bike pocket, a wedding dance floor, a last-ball-six celebration, a kitchen counter, a toddler's grip. Each freezes a split second before impact with a one-word label. The smash never appears.

CAPTION HOOK

"Every phone falls. Tag the friend who drops theirs the most."

House rule: "We got you" means we protect you fast — not "your phone can't break". Every freeze is staged over a cushion. No phone is broken for this.

Reel 9:16 · 12-15s

TikTok first

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » RICKSHAW.
- » SHAADI DANCE FLOOR.
- » LAST-BALL SIX.
- » DON'T WORRY. WE GOT YOU.

THE LOOK

Sports-broadcast freeze frames: a hard white flash on every freeze, trending audio with a clean beat drop.

PHASE 1 · THE STRUGGLE IS REAL · W-2 · MON · ENTRIES RUN 10 DAYS

Worst screen protector in Pakistan

REAL LIFE

EVERYONE HAS A PROTECTOR SO BAD IT'S FUNNY: HALF PEELED, CRACKED IN THREE PLACES, A BUBBLE WITH ITS OWN POSTCODE.

THE POST

The engine of pre-launch. People post their worst protector and tag us; we react to the best-worst; the ten worst get fixed at the kiosk on opening day (C4). Engagement before anything is for sale — plus an archive of real “almost” footage nobody had to fake. Rules pinned in the caption.

CAPTION HOOK

“Show us the worst screen protector in Pakistan. Tag us — the 10 worst get a free cut on opening day.”

House rule: Written permission from every winner before anyone is filmed.

Reel 9:16 · 15s

Story stickers

Entries open 10 days

CONTEST

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» SHOW US THE WORST SCREEN PROTECTOR IN PAKISTAN.

» TAG US. THE 10 WORST GET A FREE CUT ON OPENING DAY.

THE LOOK

“Rate my disaster” reaction: host face in the corner, the entry full screen, a score sticker slapped on — “2/10, bro what is this”.

PHASE 1 · THE STRUGGLE IS REAL · W-2 · THU

Name a phone we can't cut

REAL LIFE

"SORRY, ISKE LIYE NAHI HAI." (WE DON'T STOCK THAT ONE.) EVERY SHOP, FOR EVERY PHONE THAT'S A BIT OLD OR A BIT RARE.

THE POST

The first question anyone asks is "will it fit mine?". Instead of posting a model list, dare them. Every comment is a phone we can cut on camera after launch (C5), and the thread itself shows the range — no spec slide needed. Every comment gets a reply in the "we got you" voice.

CAPTION HOOK

"Name a phone we can't cut. Thousands of models in the machine."

House rule: Log every model named. The list is the shooting schedule for C5 and the honest answer to "will it fit mine?".

TikTok photo post

Story question sticker

COMMENT BAIT

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » NAME A PHONE WE CAN'T CUT.
- » THOUSANDS OF MODELS IN THE MACHINE.
- » REPLY: "GOT IT. SEE YOU AT THE KIOSK."

THE LOOK

Big marker type on yellow, real comments stacked underneath, a hand holding a phone out like a dare.

PHASE 2 · W-1

Snip Snap Reveal

NOSY NEIGHBOURS. NOON SUN. BUTTERFINGERS.

Show the kiosk and the four finishes — each one paired with proof of its own spec, on a real phone.

B1	Something's going up at [mall]	W-1 Mon
B2	Meet the squad	W-1 Tue
B3	CLEAR · Spot the film	W-1 Wed
B4	PRIVACY · Side-eye proof	W-1 Thu
B5	MATTE · Sun, glare, paratha fingers	W-1 Fri
B6	TUFF · Built for butterfingers	W-1 Sat

PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1 · MON

Something's going up at [mall]

REAL LIFE

A BRAND NOBODY'S HEARD OF? PEOPLE NEED PROOF IT'S REAL — AND EXACTLY WHERE TO FIND IT.

THE POST

The build, filmed the week before opening. It proves we're real, shows exactly where we are, and gives the countdown something to watch. A camera locks off on a tripod from hour one of the install; handheld details — the sign, the shelves, the cutter — get grabbed along the way. Date and location land on the final frame.

CAPTION HOOK

"Five days. One kiosk. Opening [date] at [mall], [floor]."

House rule: Swap the logo stars on the sign before this films. This reel puts the sign in close-up.

Reel 9:16 · 20–30s

Timelapse

TikTok + Instagram

TIMELAPSE

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» DAY 1.

» DAY 3.

» OPENING [DATE]. [MALL], [FLOOR].

THE LOOK

Pop-up build timelapse: one fixed wide angle, people as blurs, the neon base snapping on at the end.

PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1 · TUE

Meet the squad

REAL LIFE

FOUR FINISHES, FOUR REAL-LIFE PROBLEMS. EVERYBODY SPOTS THEIR OWN PROBLEM IN ONE OF THEM.

THE POST

The family portrait — the only post with all four finishes together. Boxes always line up CLEAR, PRIVACY, MATTE, TUFF, here and everywhere after, so the range is learnable. A strip of freshly cut film curls across the cutting mat, so we show the product and not just the packaging.

CAPTION HOOK

"Four finishes. One machine. Cut for yours. Which one are you?"

Photo 4:5

6s slow-orbit reel

Grid anchor

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » FOUR FINISHES. ONE MACHINE. CUT FOR YOURS.
- » CLEAR — LOOKS LIKE NOTHING'S ON
- » PRIVACY — FOR NOSY NEIGHBOURS
- » MATTE — FOR NOON SUN · TUFF — FOR BUTTERFINGERS

THE LOOK

Tech family shot: low three-quarter angle, soft shadow, one warm key light, a marker label under each box.

PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1 · WED · 1 OF 4 REVEALS

CLEAR · Spot the film

REAL LIFE

THICK, CLOUDY PROTECTORS MAKE A BRAND-NEW FLAGSHIP LOOK SECOND-HAND.

THE POST

Each reveal opens its box, then proves that finish's own spec on a real phone. CLEAR's job is to be invisible, so it becomes a game: half the screen has film on it, half doesn't, and viewers guess in the comments before the answer lands.

CAPTION HOOK

"One half has our film. Which one? Answer below."

Reel 9:16 · 12-15s

1 of 4 reveals

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» ONE HALF HAS OUR FILM. WHICH ONE?

» A. 99%+ LIGHT TRANSMITTANCE.

THE LOOK

Split-screen spot-the-difference. Hold the pause about two seconds so people have time to comment.

PRIVACY · Side-eye proof

REAL LIFE

THE UNCLE ON THE BUS. THE COUSIN AT THE DAWAT. THE COWORKER WHO "JUST HAPPENS" TO GLANCE OVER. THEY'RE ALL READING YOUR CHATS.

THE POST

The proof is one camera move. Start straight on, screen perfectly readable, then swing past 35° and let the screen go dark. Shot on a bus or in a busy café, so "the person next to you" needs no explaining. One take, one arc, no cuts — a cut is what makes a privacy demo look staged.

CAPTION HOOK

"From the front: all yours. From the side: nothing."

Reel 9:16 · 12–15s

2 of 4 reveals

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » FROM THE FRONT: ALL YOURS.
- » FROM THE SIDE: NOTHING.
- » BLOCKS SIDE VIEWS AT 35°.

THE LOOK

One smooth gimbal arc around the phone, focus locked on the screen; a marker eye doodle gets crossed out as the screen goes dark.

PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1 · FRI · 3 OF 4 REVEALS

MATTE · Sun, glare, paratha fingers

REAL LIFE

BOOKING A RIDE AT NOON? ALL YOU CAN SEE IS THE SUN, YOUR OWN FACE AND THIS MORNING'S PARATHA GREASE.

THE POST

Shot outside at noon, in the hardest light of the day. A glossy phone in direct sun with greasy fingerprints, then the same phone with Matte on. Same light, same angle, same hands, one hard cut — nothing else changes, which is the only way a before-and-after means anything.

CAPTION HOOK

"Sun. Glare. Paratha fingers. Still readable."

Reel 9:16 · 12–15s

3 of 4 reveals

Shot outdoors at noon

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» SUN. GLARE. PARATHA FINGERS.

» STILL READABLE. PRINTS HIDDEN.

» ANTI-GLARE MICRO-TEXTURE + OIL-REPELLENT TOP LAYER.

THE LOOK

Before/after hard cut, camera locked on a tripod so the film is the only thing that changes.

PHASE 2 · SNIP SNAP REVEAL · W-1 · SAT · 4 OF 4 REVEALS

TUFF · Built for butterfingers

REAL LIFE

KEYS IN THE SAME POCKET. A TODDLER'S GRIP. A PHONE SLIDING OFF THE RICKSHAW SEAT. SOME PHONES LIVE DANGEROUSLY.

THE POST

TUFF is the only finish rated for impact, so the slow-mo lives here and nowhere else. A stylised bat-and-shards box shot opens the reel — it's art, never a stand-in for a test. Then the proof: a steel ball dropped onto a real phone wearing TUFF, shot high-speed, with the real drop height on screen.

CAPTION HOOK

"Steel ball. Real phone. [real height]. The film took the hit."

House rule: Run the drop for real before the edit is planned. If it fails at one height, test lower and put the real height on screen.

Reel 9:16 · 15–20s

4 of 4 reveals

High frame rate

HIGH FRAME RATE

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» TUFF.

» STEEL BALL. REAL PHONE. [REAL HEIGHT].

» THE FILM TOOK THE HIT.

THE LOOK

Torture test at high frame rate: black backdrop, one hard side light, the film flexing on impact.

PHASE 3 · L → L+6

Pull Up Week

"WILL IT FIT MINE?" "HOW LONG?" "WHERE IS IT?" – ANSWERED.

Get people to the kiosk: where it is, how it works, and proof the machine does what the posts promised.

C1	Opening day, in the founder's voice	L
C4	From worst to cut	L+1
C2	W·R·A·P·S·H·A·P: how it works	L+2
C3	Almost vs exact	L+3 · weekly
C5	Stump the machine	L+5 · weekly

Opening day, in the founder's voice

REAL LIFE

PEOPLE TRUST A PERSON OVER A LOGO — ESPECIALLY A NEW LOCAL BRAND.

THE POST

Cinematic kiosk shots — low-angle push-in, macro on the sign, the cutter working, the first customer — under the founder talking in their own voice, accent and all. Subtitles all the way through, because most people watch on mute. Mall, floor and hours land on the last frame and stay there.

VOICEOVER DRAFT

“Every phone I’ve owned had a protector that almost fit — and a shopkeeper who swore it was perfect. So we built a machine that cuts one for your exact phone, in under 60 seconds. [Mall], [floor]. Pull up.”

House rule: The draft is only a starting point. It lands better in the founder's own words.

Reel 9:16 · 30–40s

Founder voiceover

Pin it

PIN IT

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» SUBTITLES ON THE WHOLE VOICEOVER.

» [MALL], [FLOOR], [HOURS] ON THE LAST FRAME.

THE LOOK

Architectural product film: slow dolly moves, warm light, shallow depth of field, the neon base glowing.

From worst to cut

REAL LIFE

THE CONTEST WINNERS' PHONES: THE WORST "ALMOSTS" IN PAKISTAN, FINALLY FIXED.

THE POST

The contest winners bring their wrecked phones to the kiosk. The old film comes off on camera, the new one is cut and applied, and the owner reacts in their own words. It's the first real customer content of the launch, tied to a story people already followed for two weeks — so it lands harder than any testimonial later.

CAPTION HOOK

"Entry #07. Worst in Pakistan? Cut for it in [real time]."

House rule: Consent form signed before filming, and again before anything goes out.

Reel 9:16 · 20–30s

Pays off A3

Real timer on screen

OPENING DAY

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» ENTRY #07. WORST IN PAKISTAN?

» PEELED.

» CUT FOR IT. [REAL TIME].

THE LOOK

Makeover reveal: identical framing before and after, a hard cut on the final press.

W·R·A·P·S·H·A·P: how it works

REAL LIFE

"HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE?" STOPS PEOPLE WALKING OVER. ANSWER: LESS TIME THAN YOUR CHAI TAKES TO COOL.

THE POST

Eight letters, eight slides, one job each: W is the hook, R·A·P·S·H are the five kiosk steps, the second A is the result and the last P is the call to action. The letter stays huge in the background; each step reads in about a second. It runs in launch week, because a how-to only matters once there's somewhere to go.

CAPTION HOOK

"Wrap your phone in 60 seconds. Here's how →"

Carousel 4:5 · 8 slides

Same steps as a TikTok

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» W: WRAP YOUR PHONE IN 60 SECONDS.

» R·A·P·S·H: PICK → CUT → WIPE → PEEL AND ALIGN → SMOOTH.

» A: ALL DONE. P: PULL UP TO [MALL], [FLOOR].

THE LOOK

Bold letter-per-slide carousel: one brand colour field, a white step card in the same spot on every slide, marker arrows.

PHASE 3 · PULL UP WEEK · L+3, THEN WEEKLY

Almost vs exact

REAL LIFE

THE MILLIMETRE BETWEEN "ALMOST" AND "EXACT" IS THE ONE YOU STARE AT EVERY SINGLE DAY.

THE POST

One phone, two films, one locked-off macro shot. First the film the owner walked in with: a nail lifts the edge, dust underneath, the cut-out lapping over the lens. Then the same phone with the film cut for it: edge flush into the curve, cut-out clean, last bubble pushed out for good. Same frame, same light, same hands.

CAPTION HOOK

"Look at the camera hole. Which one is on your phone right now?"

House rule: Never staged. The "almost" half comes off a real phone, with the owner's permission.

Reel 9:16 · 20–30s

Weekly series

Macro, real sound

WEEKLY SERIES

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» ALMOST.

» EXACT.

» ONE WAS CUT FOR THIS PHONE. THE OTHER WAS CUT FOR A GUESS.

THE LOOK

Macro at screen level, one raking light so every lifted edge and bubble reads. Real sound, no music — text only at the end.

PHASE 3 · PULL UP WEEK · L+5, THEN WEEKLY

Stump the machine

REAL LIFE

THAT ONE FRIEND WITH THE WEIRD PHONE NO SHOP STOCKS A PROTECTOR FOR? THIS IS THEIR MOMENT.

THE POST

The strangest model from the A5 comments, every week. The comment opens the reel, the model gets searched on the kiosk screen, the film is cut and fitted, and the timer runs the whole way through. The person who asked gets tagged — and usually shares it.

CAPTION HOOK

"@[user] said we can't cut this. Cut in [real time]."

House rule: Real timer, no speed-ramps on the cut. One faked episode kills the series and the machine's credibility with it.

Reel 9:16 · 15–25s

Weekly series

Pays off A5

WEEKLY SERIES

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» @[USER] SAID WE CAN'T CUT THIS.

» FOUND IT.

» CUT IN [REAL TIME].

THE LOOK

Challenge format: the comment screenshot as the hook, then a fast, single-location payoff.

PHASE 4 · L+1 → L+4 WEEKS

Keep It Loud

REAL PEOPLE. REAL FITS. REAL NOSY NEIGHBOURS.

Turn customers into content, and answer the one objection that would otherwise sit in every comment section.

D1	Rate the fit	Weekly from L+1
D2	"Is it glass?"	L+1 week, then pinned
D3	The sneaky neighbour	Weekly from L+1

WE GOT YOU.

PHASE 4 · KEEP IT LOUD · WEEKLY FROM L+1

Rate the fit

REAL LIFE

NOBODY BELIEVES A BRAND. EVERYBODY BELIEVES THE PERSON NEXT TO THEM IN THE QUEUE.

THE POST

Every customer who agrees rates their own fit out of ten, on camera — same question, same framing, every week. Real answers only, including the sevens; they're what make the tens believable. The owner's phone model goes on screen each time, so the series keeps answering "will it fit mine?".

CAPTION HOOK

"Rate the fit out of 10. [their real answer]"

House rule: Signed or recorded permission before anyone appears. The share of customers who say yes is a satisfaction signal worth logging.

Reel 9:16 · 20–30s

Weekly compilation

Customer content

WEEKLY SERIES

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » RATE THE FIT OUT OF 10.
- » [THEIR REAL ANSWER]
- » [THEIR PHONE MODEL]

THE LOOK

Street vox-pop: handheld mic, tight framing, bold caption bar, quick cuts. Real people, real vibes.

PHASE 4 · KEEP IT LOUD · L+1 WEEK, THEN PINNED IN REPLIES

"Is it glass?"

REAL LIFE

PAKISTAN BUYS TEMPERED GLASS BY DEFAULT — AND GETS BULK, CRACKS AND EDGES THAT WON'T SIT ON CURVED SCREENS.

THE POST

These films are TPU and EPU, and the question will turn up in every comment section — so answer it once, from the spec sheet, and link it every time after. Glass adds bulk, shatters on impact and can't follow a curved screen. TUFF is 0.25–0.35 mm, 4H–5H, with an EPU layer that spreads the hit.

CAPTION HOOK

"Is it glass? No — and here's why that's good."

House rule: Impact language belongs to TUFF only. Never "unbreakable", never "scratch-proof" — 3H–5H is scratch-resistant.

Carousel 4:5 · 5 slides

The standing objection

Link it in replies

PINNED IN REPLIES

ON-SCREEN TEXT

- » IS IT GLASS? NO. HERE'S WHY THAT'S GOOD.
- » GLASS: BULK, SHATTERS, CAN'T FOLLOW A CURVE.
- » TUFF: 0.25–0.35 MM, 4H–5H, EPU LAYER SPREADS THE HIT.

THE LOOK

Clean two-column comparison, one column in the brand colour, a marker crown on the winning side. Closes on the other three finishes.

PHASE 4 · KEEP IT LOUD · WEEKLY FROM L+1

The sneaky neighbour

REAL LIFE

THERE'S ALWAYS SOMEONE LEANING IN: THE CAFÉ TABLE, THE OFFICE DESK, THE NEXT SEAT ON THE BUS.

THE POST

Two settings, alternating weekly: a café table and an office desk. Someone's on their phone; someone else leans in to read it. Cut to the same phone from the side — flat black, because PRIVACY blocks it past 35°. No spec sheet, just the moment everyone knows: the stranger who tried to read your screen and couldn't.

CAPTION HOOK

"Not your screen. Not your business."

House rule: Cast a friend as the "neighbour" — never film a real bystander without consent. Keep the 35° reveal identical every week.

Reel 9:16 · 15–20s

Two scenes, weekly

Proves PRIVACY

WEEKLY SERIES

ON-SCREEN TEXT

» CAFÉ WEEK: "NOT YOUR SCREEN. NOT YOUR BUSINESS."

» OFFICE WEEK: "KEEP YOUR BUSINESS YOURS."

» SAME PROOF BOTH TIMES: DARK PAST 35°.

THE LOOK

Locked-off two-shot: subject on their phone, a second person leaning in from the side. Hard cut to the screen at 35° — blank.

10

FACTORY SHOOT · DAY 1

Lights. Films. Action.

DUMMY PHONES. FOUR FILMS. ONE MACHINE. ZERO EXCUSES.

Ten funky reels we can shoot at the factory with only what's there — and the team as actors. Every one starts with a real-life phone problem and ends with the exact fit.

1–2 dummy phones

CLEAR film

PRIVACY film

MATTE film

TUFF film

Kiosk cutter

Dust wipes

Microfiber cloth

60 SEC. GO.

Ten scripts, one factory, one day

#	Script	Focus	Length	Where
S1	"Bilkul Fit Hai"	The Machine	25s	Machine
S2	The Bubble Roommate	The Install	25s	Machine
S3	60 Seconds, Go	The Machine	30s	Machine
S4	Which Half?	CLEAR	12s	Table
S5	Uncle, Not the Kurta	The Install	20s	Table
S6	Your Phone Is Not a Mirror	MATTE	15s	Table
S7	"Glass Wala Do"	TUFF	20s	Table
S8	Not Your Screen, Uncle	PRIVACY	20s	Window
S9	Types of Customers	The Machine	30s	Machine
S10	POV: I'm the Film	The Machine	30s	Machine

Before you roll

1. Dialogue in Roman Urdu; burn English subtitles on everything.
2. Dummy screens don't light up — only the films' own behaviour is shown as proof. Skits play as comedy.
3. Real timers on every cut. No speed-ramps, no faked tests.
4. No close-ups of any logo that still has the stars.

Shoot order

Machine block: S1, S2, S3, S9, S10 — they share the cut footage, so keep rolling on every cut.

Table block: S4, S5, S6, S7 under the lights.

Window block: S8 last.

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 01 OF 10 · SKIT · 25S

"Bilkul Fit Hai"

Cast: shopkeeper, customer

Props: dummy with a crooked wrong-size film, kiosk, wipe, cloth

THE MACHINE

0-3s

Close-up: crooked film, edge lifting. Shopkeeper, proud: "Bilkul fit hai, bhai." (Fits perfectly, bro.) TEXT: Every shop. Every time.

3-7s

Customer tilts the phone to camera — the camera hole sits half over the lens. "Bhai, camera ka hole kahan gaya?" Shopkeeper: "Naya design hai." (It's the new design.)

7-11s

Customer pokes the bubble; it slides around. Shopkeeper: "Do din mein khud chala jayega." (It'll leave by itself in two days.) TEXT: It did not leave.

11-21s

Record-scratch cut to the kiosk: pick the model, blade cuts, wipe, peel, smooth. Real timer in the corner.

21-25s

Customer holds the phone up, edge flush: "Ab bolo." (Now say it.) Shopkeeper, tiny voice: "...bilkul fit hai." TEXT: No more almost.

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 02 OF 10 · VOICEOVER · 25S

The Bubble Roommate

Cast: hands only + voiceover

Props: dummy with an old film and a bubble, wipe, cloth, kiosk

THE INSTALL

0-3s

Macro on the bubble. VO: "This bubble has lived on my phone since 2023. Pays zero rent."

3-9s

A thumb pushes it to the edge; it slides back to the centre. VO: "I pushed it out. It came back. Like the cousin who 'stays one night'."

9-13s

Dramatic slow-mo peel of the old film. VO: "So I did what had to be done."

13-21s

Dust wipe, microfiber, kiosk cut, new film goes on. VO: "Clean house. New lease. Cut for this exact phone."

21-25s

A microfiber-wrapped thumb pushes the last tiny bubble off the edge. VO: "Eviction complete." TEXT: Bye bye, bubble.

60 Seconds, Go

Cast: three staffers + the machine

Props: kiosk, dummy, film, microfiber, dust wipe

THE MACHINE

0-3s

A staffer starts the stopwatch: “Team ko 60 second. Machine ko bhi.” (60 seconds for the team. Same for the machine.) TEXT: 60 seconds. Go.

3-12s

Staffer A tries to fold the microfiber into a swan. Staffer B tries “kacha papad, pakka papad” five times fast.

12-20s

Staffer C can’t find the dust wipe he’s standing on. Cut between them and the machine: pick, cut, wipe, film on.

20-25s

Timer stops at [real time] as the film sits flush. TEXT: Machine: done. Team: ...

25-30s

The swan collapses. Staffer A: “Machine jeet gayi.” (The machine won.) TEXT: Cut for your exact phone. Under 60 seconds.

House rule: Real timer, no speed-ramp. The “under 60 seconds” line only goes out if the take really is.

Which Half?

Cast: two staffers

Props: dummy with CLEAR film on one half only

CLEAR

0-2s

Two staffers stare at the dummy. A: “Left pe film hai.” B: “Right.” TEXT: One half has our CLEAR film. Which one?

2-6s

Slow tilt under the factory lights. A: “Left pe chamak hai.” (The left is shiny.) B: “Woh tumhara chehra hai.” (That’s your face.)

6-8s

Hold for two seconds. TEXT: Comment LEFT or RIGHT.

8-12s

A fingernail lifts the corner on the right half. TEXT: Right. Virtually invisible. 99%+ light transmittance.

House rule: Check before rolling which half really looks like nothing’s on, and reveal that one.

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 05 OF 10 · SKIT · 20S

Uncle, Not the Kurta

Cast: uncle, young staffer

Props: dummy, dust wipe, microfiber, kiosk, film

THE INSTALL

0-3s

Uncle breathes on the dummy and wipes it on his kurta. TEXT: Every uncle. Every phone.

3-6s

Close-up: streaks and lint. Young staffer, horrified: "Uncle, ye kya kar diya?" (Uncle, what have you done?)

6-14s

She takes over — ASMR: dust wipe, slow microfiber circles. TEXT: One speck of dust = one bubble forever.

14-18s

Kiosk cut, film on, flush.

18-20s

Uncle reaches for his kurta again; she pulls the phone away: "Kurta pehnne ke liye hai, uncle." (The kurta is for wearing.) TEXT: Wipe. Cut. Done.

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 06 OF 10 · SKIT · 15S

Your Phone Is Not a Mirror

Cast: girl, friend

Props: glossy dummy, MATTE film, kiosk

MATTE

0-3s

A girl fixes her hair using the glossy dummy as a mirror under the tube lights. TEXT: If your phone is also your mirror...

3-7s

Close-up: thumbprints and glare. Friend: “Screen dekh rahi ho ya khud ko?” (Looking at the screen or at yourself?)

7-12s

Kiosk cuts MATTE; it goes on. Same angle, same lights: glare softened, prints hidden.

12-15s

She tries the mirror trick again — nothing. Shrugs. TEXT: MATTE. Less glare. Fewer prints.

House rule: Lock the camera between the glossy and the MATTE shot, so the film is the only thing that changes.

"Glass Wala Do"

Cast: customer, staffer

Props: TUFF film, dummy, kiosk

TUFF

0-3s

Customer: "Bhai, glass wala do. Strong hota hai." (Give me the glass one. It's strong.) Staffer stares into the camera. TEXT: Is it glass? No. Here's why that's good.

3-10s

Staffer bends TUFF into a curve and lets it spring back: "Glass bulky hota hai, crack hota hai, curve pe baithta hi nahi." (Bulky, cracks, won't sit on a curve.)

10-16s

TUFF goes on the dummy; macro along the curved edge. TEXT: TUFF · 0.25–0.35 mm · 4H–5H · EPU layer spreads the hit.

16-20s

Customer taps it, nods: "Theek hai. Glass nahi chahiye." (Okay. Don't need glass.) TEXT: Is it glass? No. That's the point.

House rule: Impact talk stays with TUFF. Never "unbreakable", never "scratch-proof".

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 08 OF 10 · SKIT · 20S

Not Your Screen, Uncle

Cast: staffer, nosy uncle

Props: dummy, PRIVACY film sheet, a window

PRIVACY

0-3s

Staffer on a bench with the dummy. Uncle slides closer, neck stretching. TEXT: There's always one.

3-8s

Every time the staffer scoots away, uncle follows. Pure comedy.

8-15s

Staffer holds a PRIVACY sheet up to the window — see-through face-on, dark when tilted: "Saamne se sab. Side se kuch nahi." (Everything from the front. Nothing from the side.) Uncle tries every angle, even crouching.

15-20s

Uncle, defeated, pretends to check the time. TEXT: PRIVACY. Blocks side views at 35°. Not your screen. Not your business.

House rule: Going dark at an angle is the film doing it for real. Never fake it in the edit.

Types of Customers

Cast: one actor playing four people

Props: dummy, TUFF film, kiosk, microfiber

THE MACHINE

0-2s

TEXT: Types of people at a screen protector shop.

Worrier

"Fit aayega na? Pakka? Qasam khao." (It'll fit? Promise? Swear on it.) The kiosk screen finds the model.

TEXT: Will it fit? Yes.

Glass guy

"Glass wala nahi hai?" (No glass one?) Cut to the TUFF bend.

Speedrunner

"Bhai jaldi, rickshaw wait kar raha hai." (Hurry, my rickshaw's waiting.) Cut to the timer on the cut.

Over-cleaner

Wipes the screen 14 times. Staffer: "Bas bhai, baaki machine ka kaam hai." (Enough — the machine does the rest.)

Closer

Split screen: all four admire their phones in sync. TEXT: Every type. One machine. Exact fit. Which one are you?

FACTORY SHOOT · SCRIPT 10 OF 10 · VOICEOVER · 30S

POV: I'm the Film

Cast: voiceover + hands

Props: blank film sheet, kiosk, dummy, wipe, cloth

THE MACHINE

0-3s

Macro on a blank sheet in the machine. Deadpan VO: "I was a blank sheet. No phone. No purpose."

3-8s

A model gets picked on the screen. VO: "Then someone typed in their phone. Suddenly I had a shape."

8-12s

Blade macro. VO: "That tickled."

12-17s

Slow-mo backing peel. VO: "They peeled my backing. Rude. But fair."

17-22s

Wipe and microfiber on the dummy. VO: "They cleaned the house before I moved in. Respect."

22-27s

The film lands, smoothed. VO: "Edge to edge. Perfect camera hole. I fit exactly one phone in the world."

27-30s

VO: "Yours." TEXT: Cut for your exact phone.